DAVIS THEATRE.

World's Greatest Motion Picture, Calabria.

D'Annunzio's stupendous photo-spectacle, Calabria, was made in five different countries, and it required almost two years for its completion. It employed during that period over 5,000 people, and cost the vast sum of $250,000.

In one scene alone—the reproduction of Hannibal's historic passage of the Alps—700 people were used. For a faithful and accurate reproduction this vast cavalry actually crossed a portion of Switzerland's famous mountains, together with the elephants, horses and other live stock. This was no doubt, the most extreme, ever resorted to for realism in the history of motion pictures.

Ernesto Panari, who plays the part of Hannibal, the heretofore Numidian slave, in Calabria, stands 6 feet 11 inches in height, weighs 260 pounds and is capable of lifting 300 pounds with apparent ease. He is a veritable giant. In the escape of his master, Fulvius Axilla, and the little Calabria, from the clutches of Carthage, he picks the way, furiously pursuing up like children, throwing them over the city walls and into cauldrons of boiling oil. This marvelous exhibition of physical strength is vividly shown in the Calabria picture.

Italia Manzini, who plays the part of Sophonisba, Queen of Carthage, is said to be the most ravishingly beautiful woman in Italy. In her every action she is the typical Oriental queen—gracious to the very end, but in her glorious in her little moments, lavishing her affections and caresses on a huge leopard cat which is permitted to roam at will through her gorgeous palace. This is shown with a thrilling realism in the Calabria picture at the Davis theatre during the week.

Matinee at 2:30, 5 and 8. Evening at 7:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30. Two shows a day.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

The Great European War, Today's Monster Feature in Four Reels.

To the average person witnessing the mammoth moving picture at the Colonial theatre yesterday The Great European War, in four reels, was a startling innovation, and while necessarily the picture is more or less sketchy in character, due to the fact that the camera man was in mortal danger nearly all of the time while snatching the motion picture from the jaws of history, the assembling of the various scenes is done in a masterly manner and the whole picture is a triumph of magnificent color, beautiful scenery, royal earnestness and interesting photography. Many scenes familiar to audience audiences through newspaper items are seen to excellent advantage. Other splendid films are on the bill also, as well as pretty little Anna, the vocalist of the Colonial.

Tomorrow (Wednesday) will be seen for the last time in The Perils of Pauline, this being the concluding number of the most successful serial motion picture ever made.

CREW OF AMERICAN

BARK PILGRIM RESCUED
In MidOcean and Landed at Kirkwall, Scotland.

Kirkwall, Scotland, Jan. 4, via London, 8:30 p. m.—Seventeen persons, the entire crew of the American bark Pilgrim, with the exception of the master, who was drowned, were landed here today by the Norwegian steamer Tholma, having been rescued in mid-Atlantic three weeks ago.

The Pilgrim had been bound from Newport News for Buenos Aires when she encountered heavy weather and was thrown on her beam ends through the shifting of ice. Her master was cut away, but this did not avail to right her. The mountaineers also swept the bark's bows away.

In response to the signals of distress sent up by the Pilgrim, the Tholma, which had left Mobile, Ala., Dec. 6 for Copenhagen, steamed as close as she dared to venture and the crew of the disabled vessel swam to the Norwegian boat.

The service Sunday afternoon at the Sheltering Arms was in charge of B. P. Bishop who gave a most helpful address from the subject, Divine Guidance. One of the greatest needs in this life, he began, is guidance, strong and helpful. What must we do in order to have this guidance? In answer to this question, he said, we must be guided by God, we must give perfect obedience. Next we must trust God. Another way is knowledge of the Christian. We must be sure that He who is guiding us knows all the way we take and that we are safe in His hands.

Ernest Potter was in charge of the singing and was at the piano. She gave most acceptably the solos. An Old Sacred Lullaby His Eye is on us, and another, Oh, how like a River Attendeth My Way.
